

MANUFACTURE
CONTEMPORAINE
DU TEMPS

Manufacture Contemporaine du Temps – a revolutionary approach to the art of timekeeping.

MCT started in 2008 with the presentation of the model Sequential One. The design approach of the Sequential One was to revise all the classical canons by suggesting a new way of time display.

MCT belongs to a rather exclusive circle of smaller brands, called “boutique manufactures,” which produces watches with in-house movements in small editions or as unique pieces. The root of the French term manufacture means hand-made; and in the case of MCT, this prestigious title is definitely well deserved.

With a DNA featuring equal shares of sophisticated design and mechanical innovation, it is essential for MCT to be able to depend on perfect coordination between these different pillars. The ‘boutique Manufacture’ concept thus takes on its full significance within the company itself, before also proving of benefit to collectors.

MCT ultimate features:

- audacious design

Along with the largest hour display on the market, MCT timepieces offers unusual, immediate and intuitive reading. The mechanical complexity behind this timepiece is inversely proportional to the simplicity of the read-off – which is quite the opposite of many contemporary complication watches.

- innovative idea

MCT Watches is constantly reinventing the display of time and that there are no limits to performance and mechanical creativity in the field of watchmaking.

- sophisticated recognizable style

Designers and other connoisseurs immediately appreciate the sapphire insert splitting the case in two and enabling the light to shine in, along with the triangular prism modules providing the largest hour display on the market.

- in-house movement

Since its creation MCT has unveiled three integrated calibers. They are all distinguished by an original and innovative time display calling for creativity as well as technical dexterity, notably including excellent energy management.

Exclusively developed for MCT and now produced in-house, the MCT calibers are admired by devotees of technical innovation, as well as by purists with a penchant for traditional watchmaking. A patent and over 500 parts testify to the degree of sophistication embodied in such a concept, harmoniously combining design and technology, form and function.

- limited editions and unique pieces

MCT watches are produced in strictly limited series.

Keen on acquiring a bespoke watch or part of an ultra-limited series imbued with the spirit of a true artist? The MCT technical and aesthetic platform comprises a network of acknowledged creative experts who place their talent at the disposal of the most sophisticated requests.

For anyone who wishes to personalize the model, the Manufacture is more than happy to oblige.

- superior quality

A reliable token of craftsmanship for devotees of fine watchmaking who will recognize in each of the brand's watches the quality of an authentic manufacture in the truest sense of the term.

MCT continues to create "changing face of time".
